

Biography
Marty Malone
Park County Commissioner

Marty was elected to the office of Park County Commissioner in 2008 and finds the most enjoyable part of serving as a Park County Commissioner is solving problems for citizens, improving county roads, and maintaining a quality Sherriff's Department.

Marty currently serves the Montana Association of County Officials on several association committees including the MACO Health Trust Board of Directors. Marty has served in several elected offices including the Arrowhead School Board, the Montana Weed Control Association, the Montana Association of County Agricultural Agents, and the Paradise Television District.

Marty and his wife Gayleen have owned and operated a ranch in Paradise valley for more than thirty years. They have two grown children who operate agricultural operations in Paradise Valley. They also have two wonderful grandchildren.

Prior to being elected as Park County Commissioner, Marty was the MSU/Park County Extension Agent for thirty years, retiring from that position in 2007.
